The Columbia River

The Columbia River rises near Fairmont Hot Springs, British Columbia, and flows 2,048 km along a meandering path across B.C. and Washington to the Pacific Ocean at Astoria, Oregon. Its drainage basin including tributaries is 671,000 square km, second largest in the United States after the Mississippi. The river was discovered by Captain Robert Gray in 1792 who named it for his ship, Columbia Rediviva. He was sailing the west coast in search of sea otters and subsequently named many features along B.C.'s coast.

Meriwether Lewis and William Clark followed the Missouri and Columbia Rivers westward, exploring the vast Louisiana and Oregon Territories. In 1805, they reached the Pacific Ocean at Astoria, spent the winter there, then returned to St. Louis with detailed reports about the west and the Columbia.

The Columbia River is the largest producer of hydro-electric power in North America, due to 14 dams that now tame its once-wild flow; from source to mouth, they are Mica, Revelstoke, Keenleyside, Grand Coulee, Chief Joseph, Wells, Rocky Reach, Rock Island, Wanapum, Priest Rapids, McNary, John Day, The Dalles, and Bonneville. The Columbia is the western USA's major salmon producing stream. Its waters irrigate more land in the west than any other river. It is the second busiest for shipping in the nation and locks bypass the lower dams, allowing ships to reach Lewiston-Clarkston on the Snake River in Idaho.

This is the second time that Wells Gray has offered a cruise on American Empress. Come and admire the spectacular sights along the storied Columbia.

On Board the Paddlewheeler American Empress

The American Empress is a 110-metre long diesel-powered paddlewheeler, built in 2002 for $50 million. Originally operated by Majestic America Line and named the Empress of the North, she cruised the Inside Passage, Alaska waters, the Pacific Northwest, and the Columbia River. In 2013, the ship was acquired by the American Queen Steamboat Company, well-known on the Mississippi River, and renamed American Empress. The ship carries 223 passengers. There are four decks and elevators access all decks. With just 112 staterooms, the experience is intimate yet diverse enough that you can meet people from many places.

The Astoria Dining Room on Deck 1 serves breakfast, lunch and dinner with menu ordering. The River Grill on Deck 4 offers breakfast and lunch buffets and dinner by reservation with a limit of two visits per voyage. Complimentary wine, beer and soft drinks are offered with dinner.

Wells Gray has staterooms in five categories. E staterooms are on Deck 4 and are the most economical. They have a semi-private veranda with direct access to the outdoor vista deck, and measure 14 sq metres (150 sq feet). C staterooms are on Decks 2 and 3, measure 17 sq metres (180 sq feet), and have a private veranda. B staterooms are on Deck 3, measure 21 sq metres (230 sq feet), and have a private veranda and small sitting area. Please enquire about the deluxe A stateroom and LS suite if interested. All rooms have twin beds or a queen bed, flat-screen TV, alarm clock, mini refrigerator, safe, and private bathroom.

Entertainment is provided nightly in the Show Lounge on Deck 1. Solo singers from local ports and talks by Columbia River experts are offered in the Paddlewheel Lounge on Deck 2.

Comfort is essential. Dress code is relaxed and casual with just one dress-up dinner on the final evening.

Itinerary

Saturday, May 16:

We take an afternoon flight from Vancouver to Kelowna and stay overnight at the Best Western Hotel.

Sunday, May 17:

Meals: B,L,D

We meet the Interior passengers during pickups through the Okanagan Valley. We cross the border at Osoyoos and drive past Grand Coulee Dam to Spokane for an overnight stay at the historic Davenport Hotel. Our welcome dinner is at the unique Steam Plant Grill, built in 1915 to supply steam heat and power to downtown Spokane.

Monday, May 18:

Meals: B,D

With the benefit of a local guide, we enjoy a city tour including Spokane Falls, Riverfront Park, the stunning mansions on "The Hill", majestic Saint John's Cathedral, and the Conservatory in Manito Park. This afternoon, we drive two hours south to Clarkston and board the American Empress. Settle into your stateroom, unpack, and explore the ship. We cast off and cruise the Snake River during dinner, then return to the dock for the night.

Tuesday, May 19:

Meals: B,L,D

Located at the confluence of the Snake and Clearwater Rivers, Clarkston is the gateway to Hells Canyon, the USA's deepest gorge. We spend the day following the footsteps of the Lewis and Clark journey which is how the city and Lewiston, across the river, received their names. A shore excursion with a hop-on hop-off circuit visits Nez Perce National Historic Park, First Territorial Capitol Interpretive Center, and Bridablik House. Admission to all is included, but depending on time you spend at each, you may not be able to visit them all. At 2 pm, the ship departs Clarkston, headed downstream on the Snake River. During the afternoon and night, we travel through four locks to bypass the dams: Lower Granite, Little Goose, Lower Monumental, and Ice Harbor.

Wednesday, May 20:

Meals: B,L,D

Early this morning, we reach the confluence of the Snake and Columbia Rivers, and cruise upstream on the Columbia past Pasco and Kennewick to dock at Richland at 7 am. The city was founded in 1905 and boomed during World War II when it was the bedroom community for the Manhattan Project. Later it became important for the Hanford nuclear power plant which closed in 1987. Excursions are offered to The Reach Center which explains the history, geology, science, and technology of the region; Sacajawea State Park at the meeting of the rivers; and Franklin County Museum which deals with Pasco's history. We stay overnight at the dock in Richland.

Thursday, May 21:

Meals: B,L,D

After departing Richland, we spend the day cruising down the Columbia River, past picturesque canyon walls and fascinating volcanic formations. You can keep guessing about what lies around the next bend. The ship's lecturer, the Riverlorian, is on-deck to offer entertaining narration. The ship is lowered through three locks at McNary Dam, John Day Dam, and The Dalles Dam. We dock at The Dalles and stay overnight.

Friday, May 22:

Meals: B,L,D

Prior to the arrival of the white man, The Dalles was a meeting place for indigenous people for 10,000 years and has become an important archaeological site. Celilo Falls was a major navigation challenge on the Columbia and natives met there for the salmon fishery. The falls were flooded when The Dalles Dam was built in 1957. One of the primary attractions here is the Columbia Gorge Discovery Center which has exhibits and films about the history and geology of the river. If you have time, you may want to visit the Original Courthouse Museum and Fort Dalles Museum. Admission to all these attractions is included and transportation is provided from the dock. We leave The Dalles at 5 PM to continue west and downstream into the Columbia Gorge where the river passes through the Cascade Range. This four-hour evening voyage offers spectacular scenery along this narrow stretch of the river, and we dock for the night at Stevenson.

Saturday, May 23:

Meals: B,L,D

The Columbia Gorge Interpretive Center is Washington's impressive equivalent to yesterday's Discovery Center. Also included is a drive across the lofty Bridge of the Gods at the narrowest point of the gorge, followed by a tour of Bonneville Dam, built in 1937. This evening, during the rest of the cruise through the Columbia Gorge, we pass underneath the Bridge of the Gods, descend 60 metres in the lock at Bonneville, and view Multnomah Falls which tumbles 190 metres off the south side cliffs.

Sunday, May 24:

Meals: B,L,D

During the night, the American Empress cruises down the last 200 km of the Columbia River, arriving at Astoria at 6 am. There is a lot of history here, including the arrival of Lewis & Clark in 1805, the founding of Fort Astoria in 1811, and the fascinating architecture of the 19th century. The shore excursion choices include the Columbia River Maritime Museum to learn about all the shipwrecks at the mouth and the maritime heritage; the Astoria Column where there is a panoramic view of the city and the river's mouth; and the elegant Flavel Mansion, built by a sea captain in 1885. You can also stroll the lovely Riverwalk. We sail at 6 pm, enjoying a gala farewell dinner while cruising up the Columbia River.

Monday, May 25:

Meals: B

We arrive in Vancouver (Washington) and disembark the American Empress. A locally guided tour of Portland includes city landmarks, the lovely waterfront promenade of the Willamette River, and the aerial tram. We stay overnight at the Embassy Suites Hotel downtown. Built in 1912 as the Multnomah Hotel, a $20 million restoration in 1998 brought this beautiful structure back to life. Visit with fellow travellers at a two-hour reception with complimentary wine, beer and cocktails.

Tuesday, May 26:

Meals: B,L

We drive to Mount St. Helens, the famous volcano which blew its top on May 18, 1980, destroying 150,000 acres of forests, killing every living thing above ground, and creating a moonlike landscape. Forty years later, admire the rebirth of the land as trees and plants re-establish themselves. At the end of the road, Johnston Ridge Observatory is just 8 km from the crater and offers panoramic views. We stay overnight at the Embassy Suites Hotel in Lynnwood.

Wednesday, May 27:

Meals: B

There are stops at Bellis Fair Mall and the Duty-Free Store, then we cross the border and head home to the Vancouver area.

Tour Notes:

- Because the size of the ship is so small, Wells Gray Tours must commit to the number of staterooms needed about 6 months prior to departure. This cruise is very popular and the ship is usually sold out long before departure. It is essential that you book early for this cruise. It is unlikely that we will be able to secure more space after American Empress recalls our unsold rooms.
- Dinner sittings are at 5:30 and 7:45 pm. Early bookers get first choice of their preferred time, but the first sitting is the most popular.
- This tour is limited to 30 travellers.
- A valid passport is required.
- A Wells Gray tour director is with you throughout the tour including the days on the ship.
- Changes: This tour has been released for sale 10 months before departure. Currency exchange rates can fluctuate considerably during this time, and taxes and fuel surcharges can change as well. Tour fares are based on costs at time of planning, so the fare could change, even after your final payment.
- Gratuities for cruise staff, local guides and drivers are included. The customary gratuity to your Wells Gray tour director and Canadian coach driver is left to your discretion.

The tour director, local guides, and drivers have many responsibilities, so please do not expect them, or your fellow travellers, to provide ongoing assistance. If you are not capable of keeping up with the group or require frequent assistance, the tour director may stop you from participating in some activities or some days of the tour. In extreme situations, you may be required to leave the tour and travel home at your own expense; travel insurance will probably not cover you.
